

SpiritRelay

Quick usage guide

Introduction

SpiritRelay helps you to contact and communicate with spirits/entities/presences/other intelligences through your computer. It's a tool to use during your séance and for paranormal research. It can be used by the individual or by a group. This is not an absolute manual for how to use this software - I'm just trying to give you some tips and ideas and a basic knowledge of the features of SpiritRelay.

SpiritRelay is mainly based around the principle of Automatic Writing/Drawing. It's completely free. Distribute as you wish, for non-commercial purposes. Licensed as freeware. First released in January 2021.

Requirements

- Windows 10 (may run on Windows 7/8 as well - not tested!)

Installation

- Download and unzip SpiritRelay to a location of your choice

Launching SpiritRelay

- Open the unzipped folder and double click on SpiritRelay.exe

Using SpiritRelay

Main screen

Spirit writer: This is where you write/draw/communicate with the spirits.

'Latest response': Here all the words you get in 'Spirit writer' Freehand mode are stored. In this example the word 'eye' was the third word I received.

You can scroll through the words by clicking on the scroll icon (the arrow +finger) or hoover with your mouse pointer over the scroll icon and use the scroll wheel on your mouse.

You can save the current list of words to a text file, by clicking the TXT icon. Text files are saved in your 'saves' folder. You find this folder in the same location as the SpiritRelay.exe.

Click the TRASH CAN if you want to delete all the current words in the list.
Note: When you exit the program all words disappear for good.

Ghost box: It produces raw audio that spirits can use to form voices. Activate it by pressing 'G' on your keyboard or click on the button with your mouse. You may then change the parameters for the ghost box: Add white noise, change the sweep rate and change the tone.

For me a setting of 0.4-0.5 for the sweep rate and 0.8-1.0 for the tone is perfect. Experiment with these settings yourself.

How to use a ghost box? Simply talk to the spirits and then listen for their answers. I suggest using headphones with the ghost box.

'Spirit writer' screen

The idea behind 'Spirit writer' is to let the spirit guide you towards an answer to your questions (but remember: Spirit communication isn't only about asking questions). 'Spirit writer' is basically a sketchpad where spirits use your muscles to move and direct the computer mouse and thereby make you - unconsciously - produce writing/drawings.

The produced writings or drawings must then be studied and interpreted. Perhaps the shapes will remind you of something? Look for signs, figures, symbols, letters or numbers. You will be able to take a screenshot if you want to save something for later analysis.

When you begin your séance - invite the spirits (mentally or vocally) to join you! Think of the person/spirit you wish to address. Call upon him/her to be present; to guide you and talk to you. Or simply invite any spirits around to join in.

In the beginning it may be difficult to recognize when it's the spirit who's controlling your muscles and when it's your own conscious mind. Sometimes eyes-closed meditation helps when moving the mouse to let the spirit take over. (Tip: Activate fullscreen so your mouse pointer always stays inside the program window if you use the eyes-closed method!)

There are two ways to go about it in 'Spirit writer': Freehand (default mode) and Automatic mode. Freehand mode is.. well.. free; spirits leave messages to you if you use it unconsciously, but YOU can also leave messages to the spirits (try drawing something and ask the spirit to comment).

Here is a quick description of how you can use the Freehand mode:

1. From the Main Screen click on the 'Spirit writer' icon.
2. In the 'Spirit writer' window left click once with the mouse and start to gently move the mouse in any direction and eventually the spirit will take control of your hand and guide you.
3. When you sense spirit telling you to stop, you left click again.
4. Remember: You can take a screenshot if you want to keep what's on the screen.

Here's another idea: Use the spirit writer in Freehand mode while ghost box mode is activated. Begin to draw and ask the spirits to say "stop". If you hear "stop" you click the left mouse button. There are many different ways to use the Freehand mode.

The Automatic mode is convenient if you e.g. find it difficult to let go of control. In this mode it is not you who writes/draws at all, it is only the spirit. You move the computer mouse of your own free will or let the spirit take control of your movements, either way - all that the planchette writes/draws on the screen is a message to you, never the other way around.

Here is a quick description of how to use the Automatic mode:

1. From the Main Screen click on the 'Spirit writer' icon.
2. In the 'Spirit writer' window, click on this icon:
3. Now move the mouse in any direction and the planchette will begin to move and write/draw something.
4. Keep on moving the mouse until the planchette reaches the far right of the screen. The planchette stops by itself when it's done, so keep moving the mouse until then.
5. When the planchette is finished you may take a screenshot if you like.

I think you will understand the concept when you start using the features regularly. There are almost unlimited ways to use the 'Spirit writer' feature.

One last thing about the Freehand mode: Spirits will reply with a word that you will find on the Main screen ('Latest response') whenever you use the Freehand mode, and these words can be looked at individually or pieced together to form sentences. As always you must use your imagination here; the words may not mean or represent exactly what they say. Much of spirit communication is symbolic.

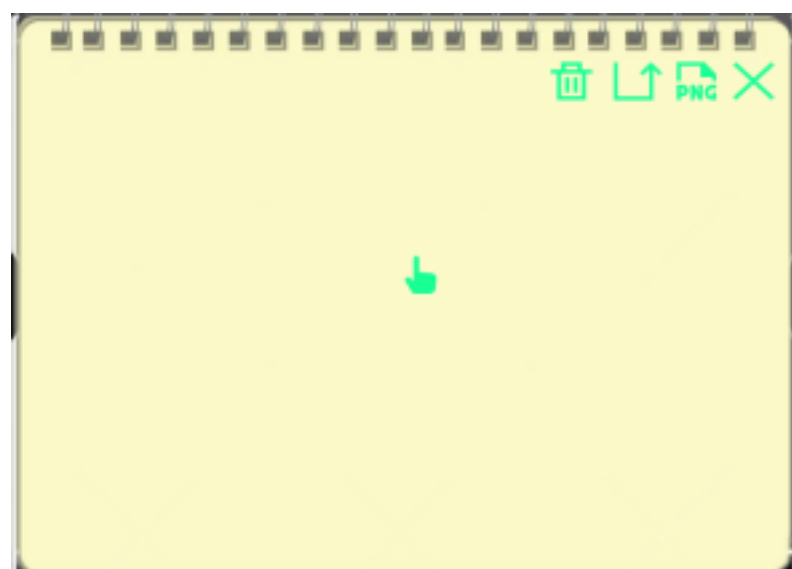

Be patient! The more you use 'Spirit writer', the more used to it you will become. Keep records of any messages you receive, even if they don't make any sense to you right now.

Let's have a look at the interface.

'Spirit writer' always starts in Freehand mode; simply left click with the mouse to begin writing/drawing. Left click again to stop, or right click to abort the session.

When you stop the session you will also receive a response - a word - on the main screen.

You can repeat this as many times as you want. When the screen is full, you may clear the current image by clicking the trash can.

Click the PNG icon or press 'C' on your keyboard to take a screenshot.

If you want to use the Automatic mode instead of Freehand, then click the icon to the right of the trash can; the U-shaped arrow.

Now a planchette appears on the screen. If you wish to abort, click the same icon again.

Now simply move your mouse in any direction and the planchet will move and write/draw. Keep moving the mouse until the planchette reaches the right hand side of the screen, it will then stop automatically.

If you wish to take a screenshot, click the PNG icon or press the 'C' key on your keyboard. Screenshots are always saved inside the 'saves' folder located in the same place as spiritrelay.exe.

If you wish to exit to the main screen, press the X icon or press the 'D' key on your keyboard.

Final words

SpiritRelay can be used in a variety of ways. This quick overview can only describe how the different features work and give you some tips and ideas. The rest is up to you. Only your imagination sets the limits of what is possible.

I hope you find SpiritRelay useful and enjoyable in your contacts with the other world.
